Mel Tillis To Be At Victoria Friday Night

Mel Tillis, a star on Nashville's famous Grand Ole Opry and a "semi-regular on the Glen Campbell television show, will be featured in two country music shows this Friday night, July 7, at the Central of Lunenburg High School auditorium in Victoria, for the benefit of the Victoria Rescue Squad.

Since a large turnout is expected there will be two shows - starting promptly at 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Sponsors are expecting a sellout tickets at both performances for the popular country music star and urge fans who plan to attend either show to purchase their tickets in advance.

Featured on Friday night's shows with Mel Tillis will be the six piece band that accompanies him on his road show, The Statesiders, a group well known in the music field as not only country and western musicians but pop and R&B artists.

In addition to his singing and songwriting talents he was named in 1971 as "Comedian Of The Year" by Music News. The comedy routines used by Mel came about almost by accident and because of a "stuttering" or "stammering" handicap he developed after a childhood bout with malaria. But rather than give in to the handicap, Mel learned to cope with it and, in 1956, he learned to accept it as a fact of life. "Stuttering has been a blessing in disguise," he said recently. "I now realize that it makes me different from other people," he said explaining how he has used the "stuttering boy" image to become one of the biggest names in the country and western music field.
